REPUBLICAN PARTY

INDEPENDENT PARTY

DO I HAVE TO JOIN A POLITICAL PARTY?

No. In Connecticut you do not have to join a political party and may register as an "unaffiliated" voter and cast your vote in a general election, such as this November 8th Presidential Election. Political parties can help you register to vote and provide information about candidates. In primary elections, only enrolled members of a party can vote. See the logos for some of the parties active in Connecticut on this page. The major parties are the Democratic Party and Republican Party. The minor parties include the Working Families Party, Green Party, Libertarian Party and Independent Party.
